

Are you a 21st century teacher?

Following the success of our previous workshop program, Muktangan Education Resource Centre (MERC) invites you to a series of Saturday workshops designed to foster curious, creative 21st century learners. Designed as a powerful intervention tool, they are aimed at improving the routine processes of 'teaching-learning' and generating synergy across your school. The workshops are designed by the faculty of Muktangan, an innovative teacher education NGO using an active-constructivist, child-centric methodology. Our unique pedagogical philosophy is incorporated in our seven Mumbai schools to bring about quality changes in education and through outreach programs in rural Maharashtra and other states of India.

Series of workshops running August 2015 to February 2016

For whom: In-service School Teachers, Teacher Educators, NGO Workers, Researchers, Curriculum Developers, Content Developers, Education Workers, Government Functionaries, Parents and Volunteers.
